

Westmore Bowman is the Federal Account Manager at Schneider Electric, where he focuses on building strong relationships and promoting sustainable solutions within federal civilian agencies. With 11 years of experience in the electrical engineering industry, Westmore has held various positions throughout his career. He is particularly proud of his time as the chair of the IEEE, where he helped increase the enrollment of Black engineers in the chapter. Westmore is also passionate about volunteering; he currently mentors young Black professionals through the Virtual Black Engineering Network at Schneider Electric.
